Bloom Wall Lamp

An exquisite little wall lamp with a rigorous design, designed in the 1950s by the internationally acclaimed grand master of Danish lighting design, Svend Aage Holm-Sørensen. The lamp takes up very little space and is perfect for a wide range of rooms. Its combination with solid brass lends the wall lamp a classic look, and the brass ring on the light metal shade is an elegant detail. The wall lamp comes in two versions. There is a self-coloured model that offers beautifully simple lighting, and a more eye-catching stripy model that draws more attention to itself. It is a sophisticated design statement that comes across just as vibrant and tasteful as it did when it first appeared in the 1950s.

The lamps come in Warm Nordic's exclusive silky matt quality paint, which guarantees an extraordinarily beautiful and durable surface.
