L I U M

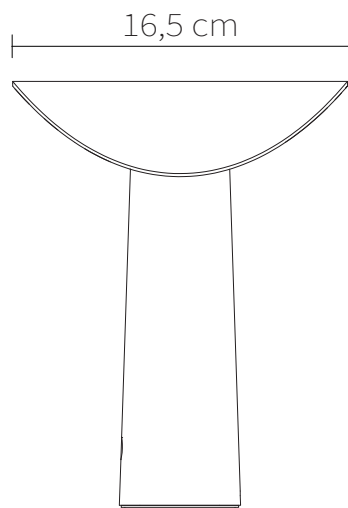

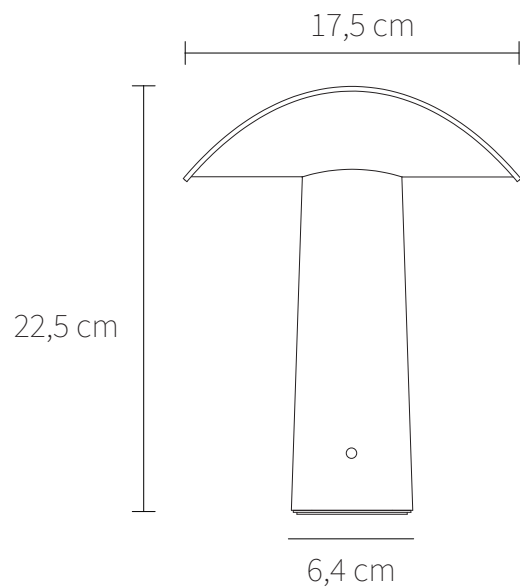

Johannes Lindner, 2025

Type Portable lamp

Lium is inspired by the mood of fall. The slightly curved lampshade is reminiscent of autumn leaves that have just fallen in the wind. The leaf rests gently on the lamp body and creates subtle plays of light and shadow that change with the viewer's perspective. The slightly conical base, reminiscent of a tree trunk, reinforces the natural, organic character of the design.

The design is functional and minimal, and characterized by simple elegance and timelessness. With its unique aesthetics, the lamp stands out and at the same time blends into many indoor and outdoor environments. I see the lamp in spaces that are looking for a calm aesthetic, not luxury, rather the opposite. Depending on the direction, Lium creates a dynamic interplay of direct and indirect light. Thanks to this versatility, it can adapt to different environments - providing soft, glare-free lighting or accentuating a space with direct light. Whether in private interiors or public environments, Lium responds to the mood and needs of the moment. In a restaurant, for example, the Lium can be aligned in such a way that the people opposite have indirect light, but at the same time different light and shadow patterns are created in the room.
