LUNO STOOL

Jens Fager, 2024

Type Stool

Luno is a stool that merges form, function, and masterful craftsmanship. Designed by Jens Fager, Luno explores the balance between lightness and stability with its distinctive curved silhouette and well-thought-out construction. By combining innovative bending techniques with a simple assembly method, Fager has created a stool that is both practical and aesthetically refined.

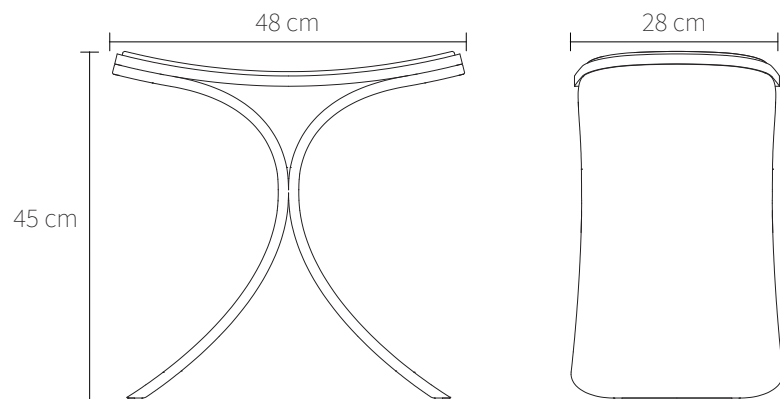

The name Luno derives from "Luna," meaning moon. The stool is visually inspired by the phases of the moon, where its form can be perceived as a waxing and waning moon seamlessly merging into one harmonious design.

Luno is developed to stand freely in a room or be discreetly placed along a wall. Its organic shape creates a natural flow in the interior, while the carefully selected materials emphasize its solid quality.

The stool comes in five elegant variations: dark oak with dark beige textile, classic oak with beige textile, black oak edition with black leather and oak and dark oak. Regardless of the combination, each model is crafted to fit into various environments - from private homes to offices, hotels, and museums.
